EMIC OR ETIC OR JUST ANOTHER CATCH-22?

A Repartee to Hartmut Haberland

Gunter SENFT*

Mtona Moyadi, ke, kunukwali
‘This Moyadi, well, do you know
yagala kwila?
the name of his prick?
Bigisesi vivila bigiligasi
The girls will see it, they will laugh
bikebigasi: “Ake inagwe!”
and say: “Oh, mothers, indeed!”’

This ‘joke’, told by Gayoboda, was labelled as sopa; the Trobriand Islanders characterized Kilagola’s story (kukwanebu) as sopa, too.

I completely agree with Hartmut Haberland’s arguments – from an etic point of view. However, I disagree with Hartmut Haberland’s arguments and must refute them – from an emic point of view.

That’s it.

* Author’s address: Gunter Senft, Forschungsstelle für Humanethologie am MPI für Verhaltensphysiologie, 8131 Seewiesen, FRG.